

Learning about my life and my family

Can you help your child to make a family tree out of natural materials?

The next stage of this activity is to create their own timeline to help them understand the different stages that they pass through as they grow up.

Draw your own or cut out the pictures below. Then stick them down on a piece of paper in the right order.

Talk about the different stages and your child could write a simple sentence about each picture.

eg. I did not walk when I was a baby, I will go to big school when I am a teenager.

Have a family catch up and look at photo's together to see how you have changed. All of you!
