

How can I use this with my children?

As a fun party game to play indoors or in an outside space.

Hide the dragons in safe places for your child and their friends to go and hunt. See if they can find where the dragons have hatched and from which egg.

How does this help my children's learning?

A twist on a hide and seek type game where children are encouraged to problem solve and find where the dragons have hatched. Each dragon will match its egg design. This encourages pattern and colour identification.

Ideas for further learning:

You could try writing letters or numbers on the back of the dragons for the players to write on their answer sheets. Maybe choose letters which could spell out a word, or ask them to add the numbers up to reveal a total.

Dragon Egg Hunt Game

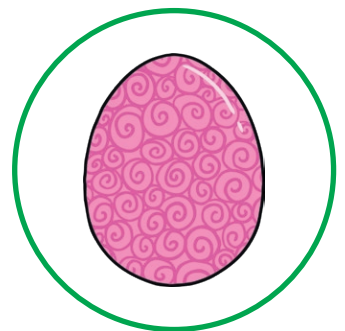

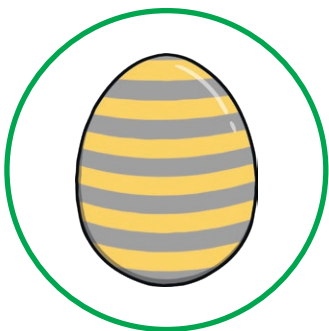

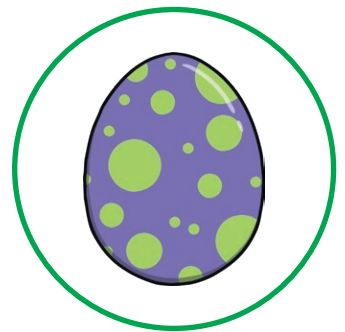

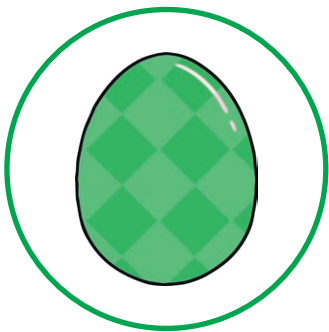

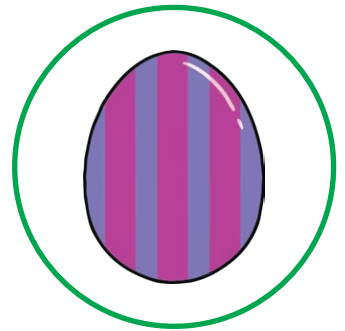

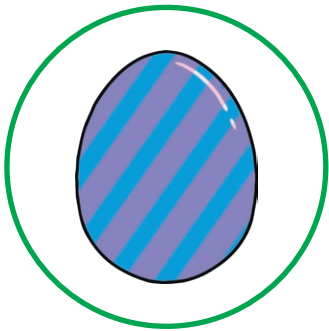

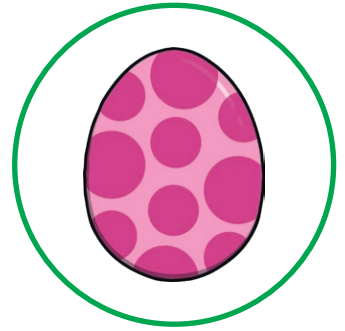

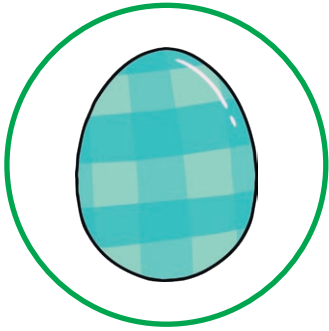

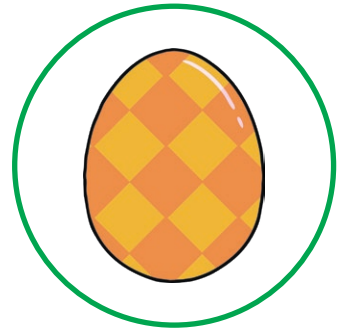

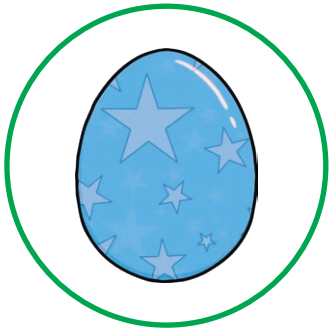

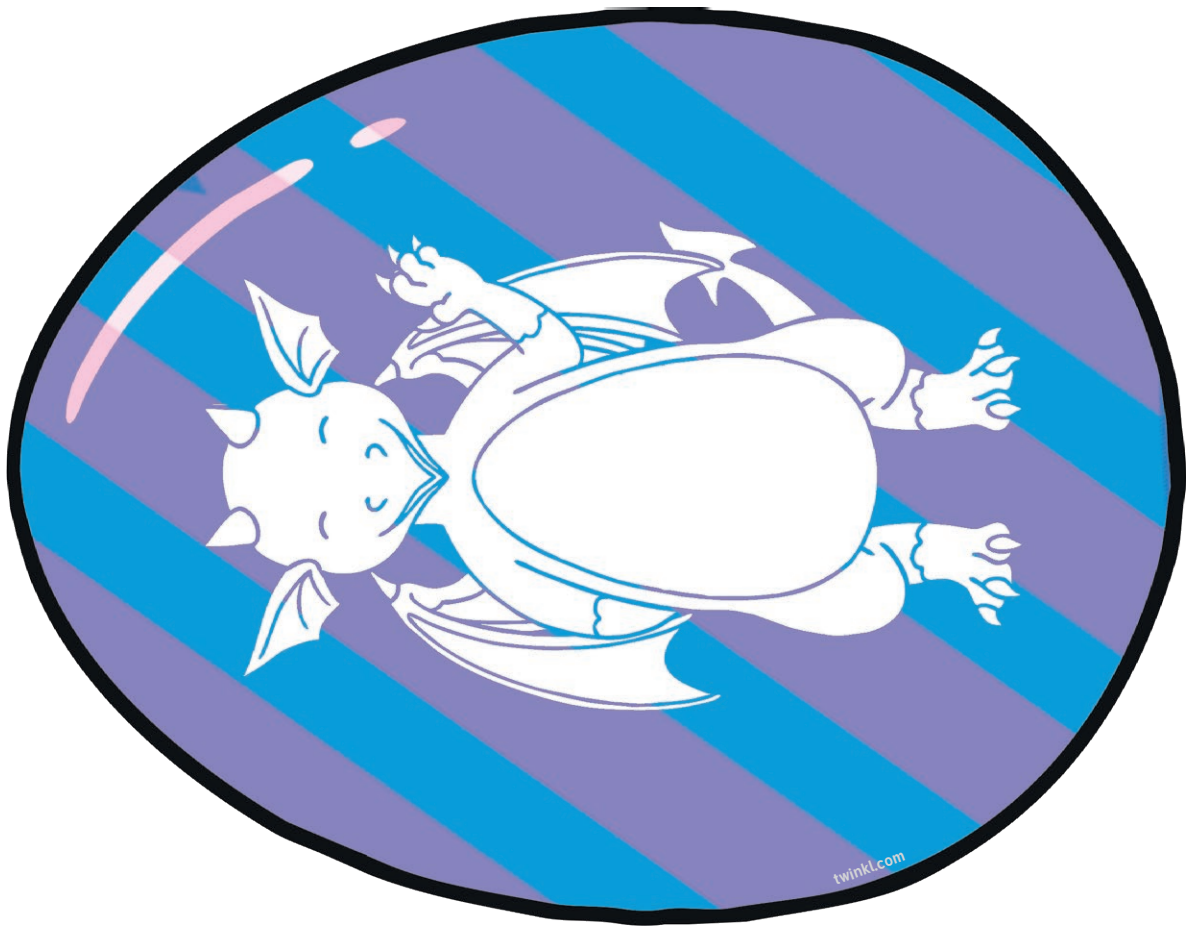

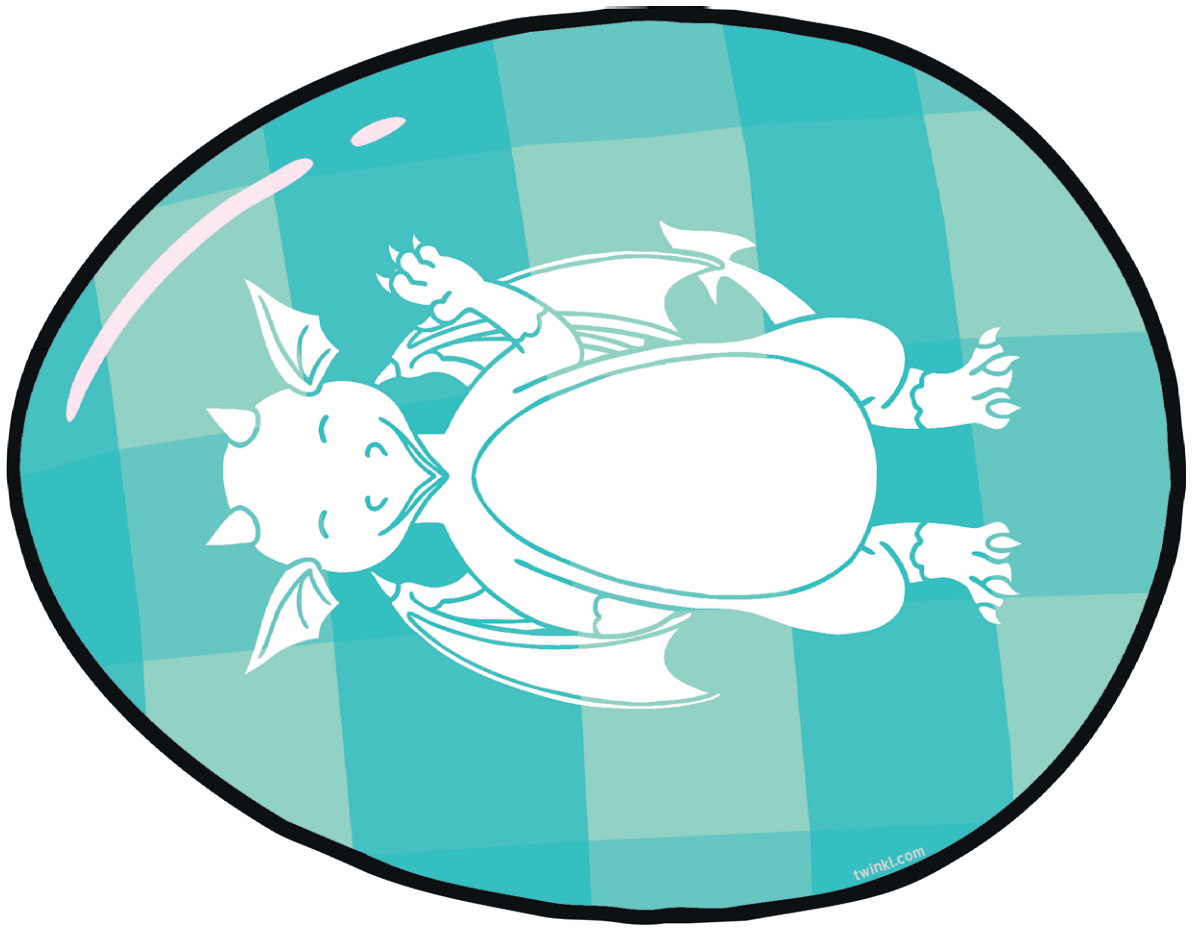

How to Play:

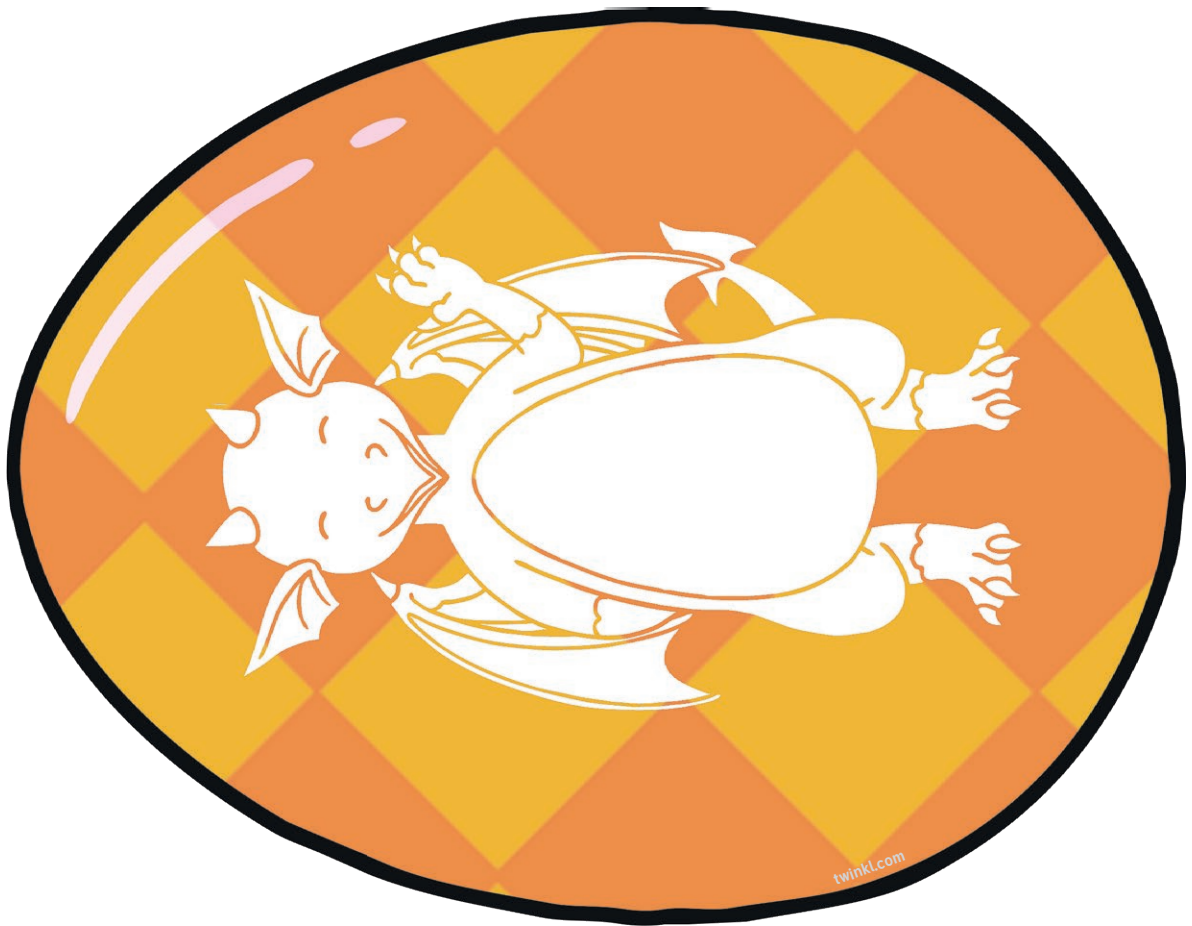

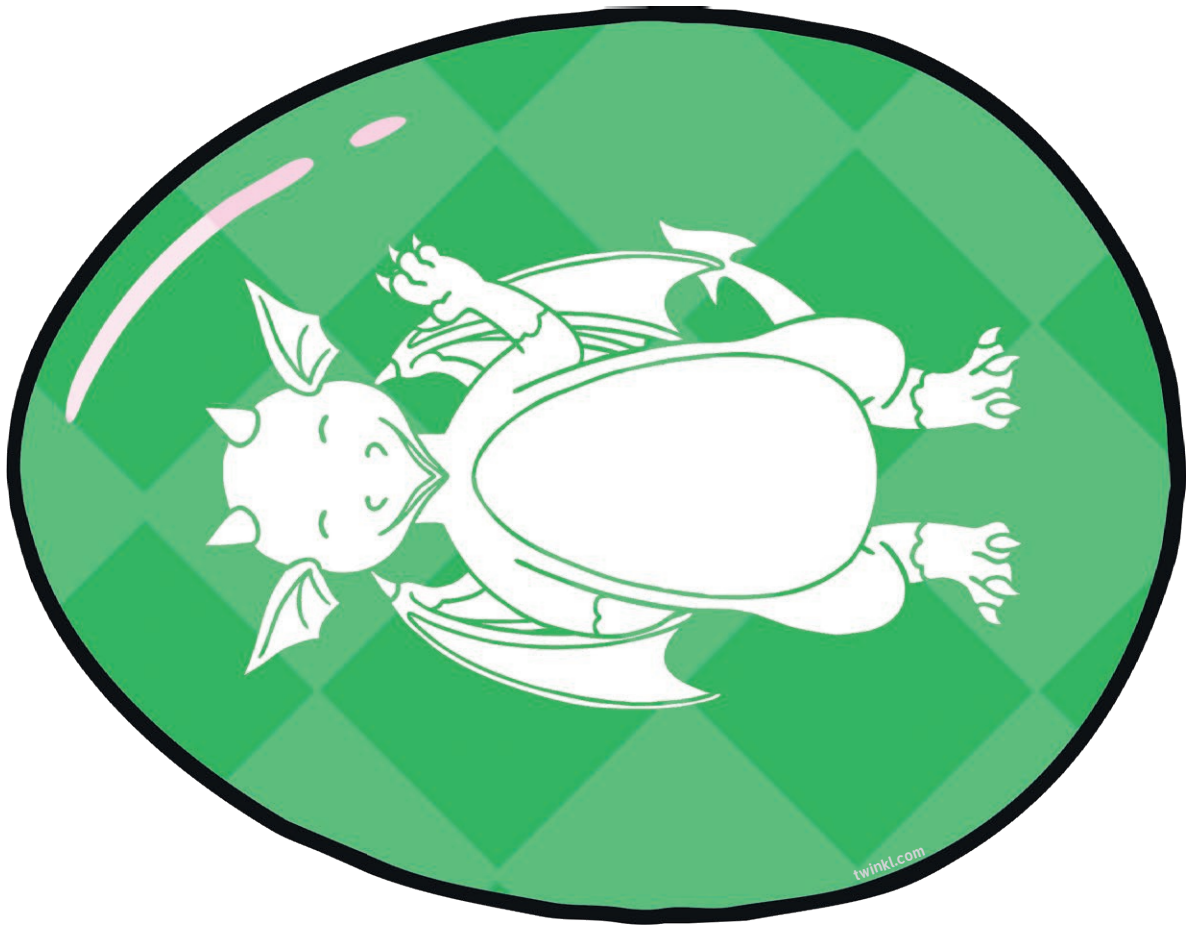

- Print off a Dragon Egg Hunt sheet for each player or team.
- Print off a set of dragons. (You might like to print them onto card or laminate them to make them a little more rigid.)
- Hide the dragons around your party venue. You could use a holepunch to make a hole in the dragon pictures and thread some ribbon through to help hide the dragons in different places.
- Explain to the children that each dragon has hatched from an egg - the pattern and colour of each dragon matches an egg on the egg hunt list. The dragons are hiding around the venue. As the children find a dragon, they need to tick the matching egg on the sheet.
- Remember to let the players know where the playing area is and which areas are out of bounds.

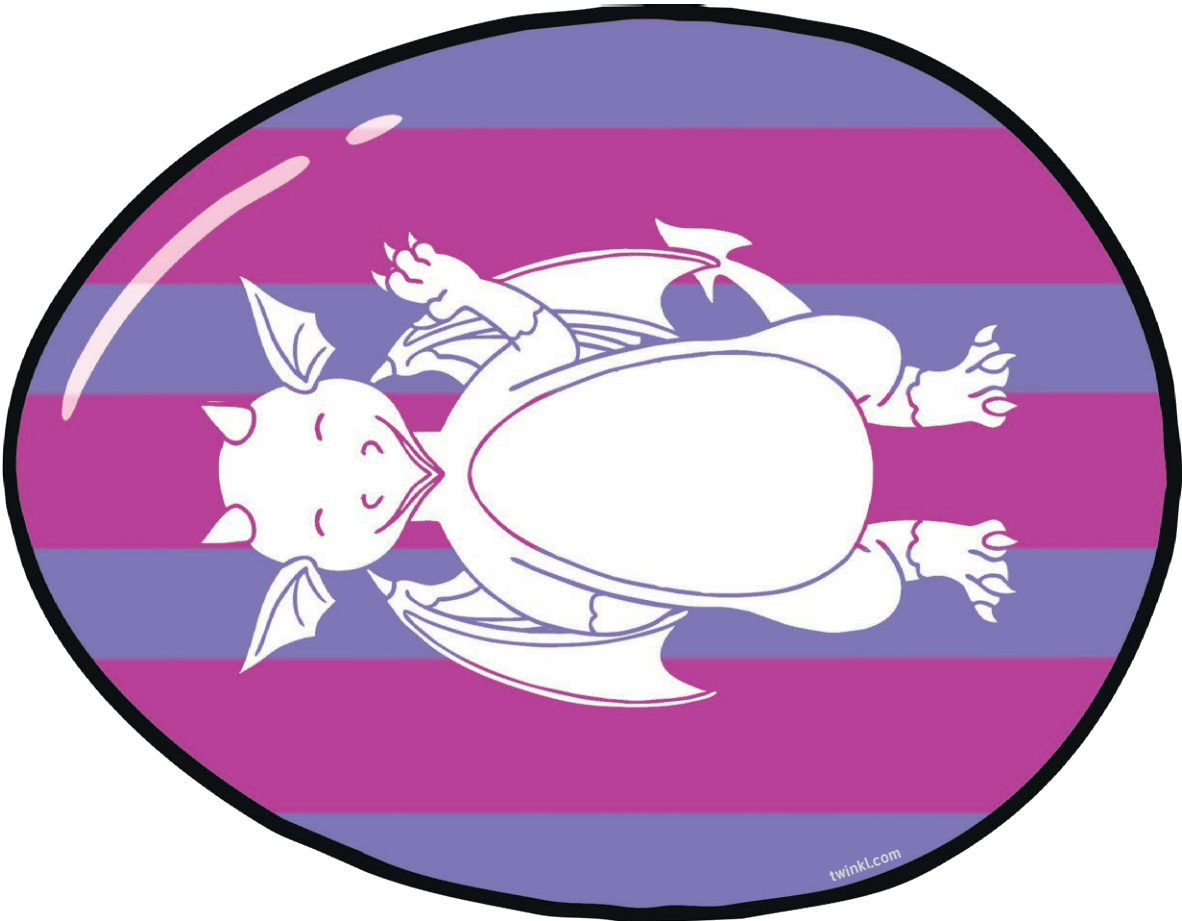

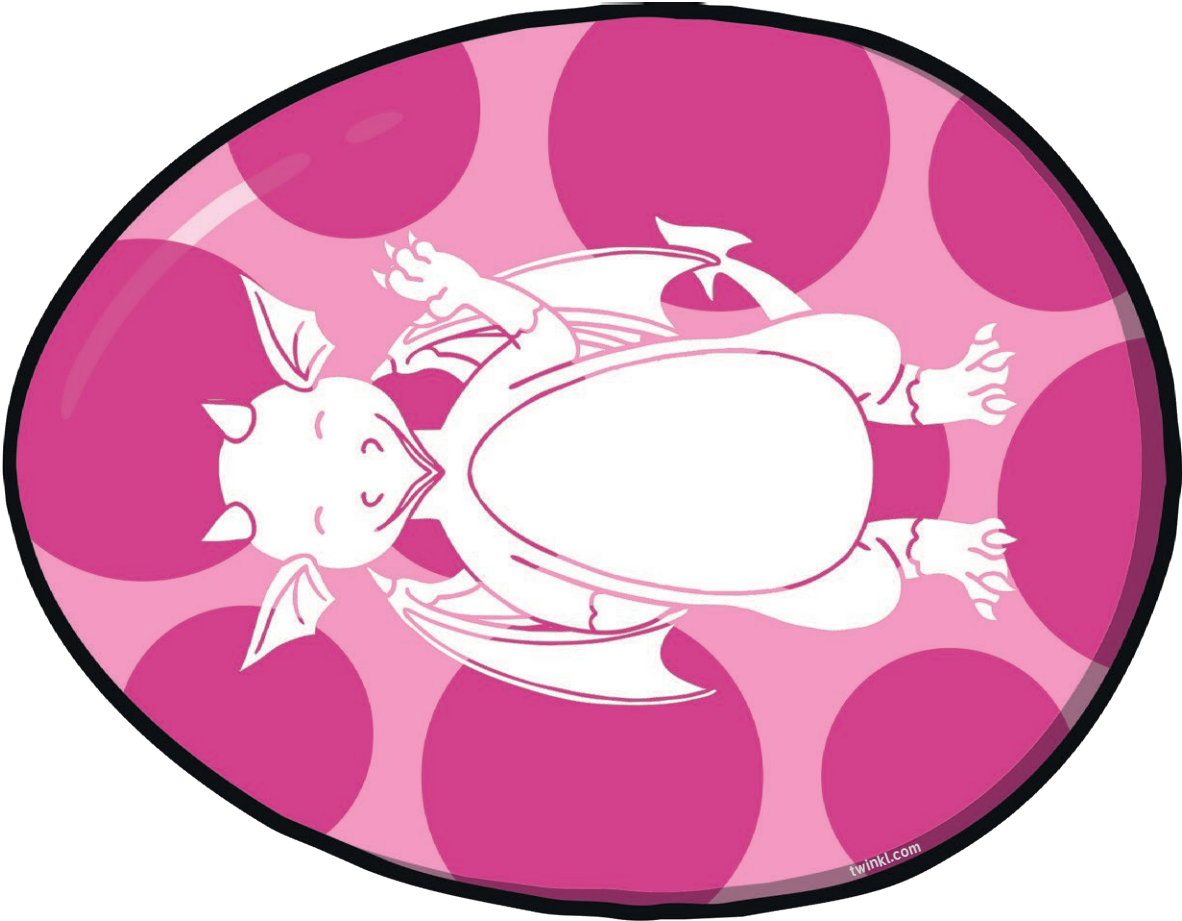

We hope the information on our website and resource is useful. However, some ingredients and/or materials used might cause allergic reactions, so if you have any concerns about your own or somebody else's health or wellbeing, always speak to a qualified health professional. Remember, activities listed within the resource should always be supervised by an appropriate adult. The description of any physical activity contained within this resource is intended as a general guide only. It may not fit your specific situation. You should not rely on the resource to be right for your situation. It is your responsibility to decide whether to carry out the activity at all and, if you do, to ensure that the activity is safe for those participating. You are responsible for carrying out proper risk assessments on the activities and for providing appropriate supervision. We are not responsible for the health and safety of your group or environment so, insofar as it is possible under the law, we cannot accept liability for any loss suffered by anyone undertaking any activity or activities referred to or described in this resource. It is also your responsibility to ensure that those participating in the activity are fit enough to do so and that you or the organisation you are organising it for has the relevant insurance to carry out the physical activity. If you are unsure in anyway, we recommend that you take guidance from a suitably qualified professional.

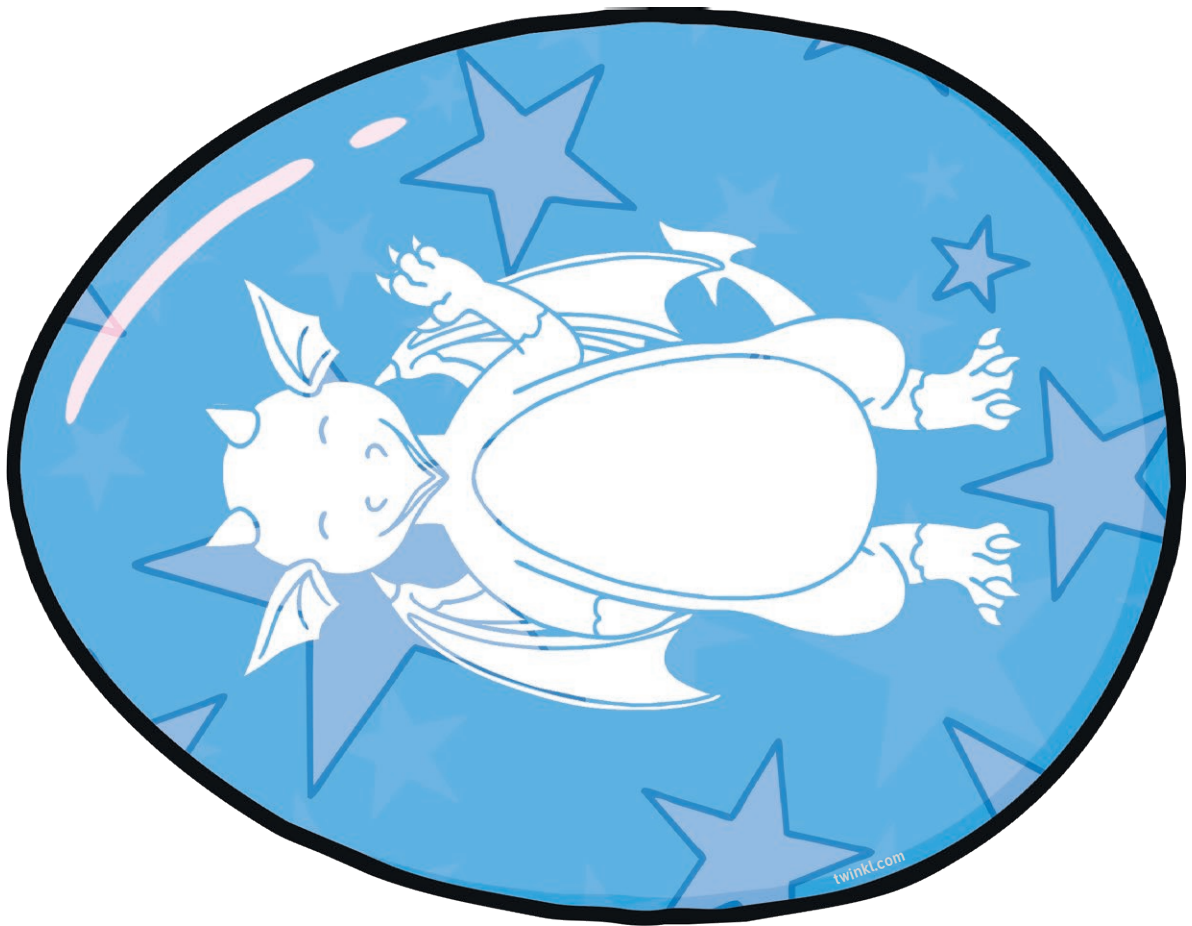

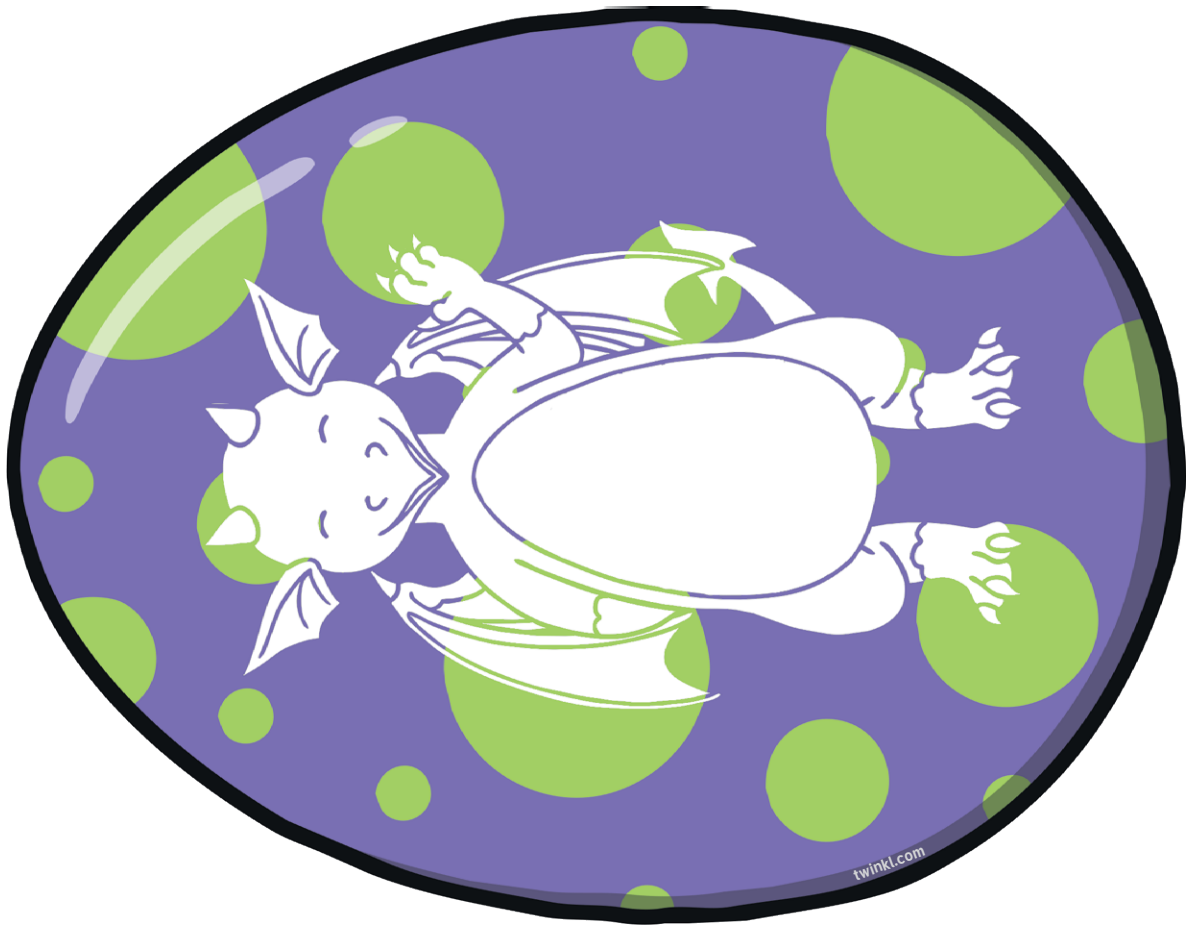

Dragon Egg Hunt Game

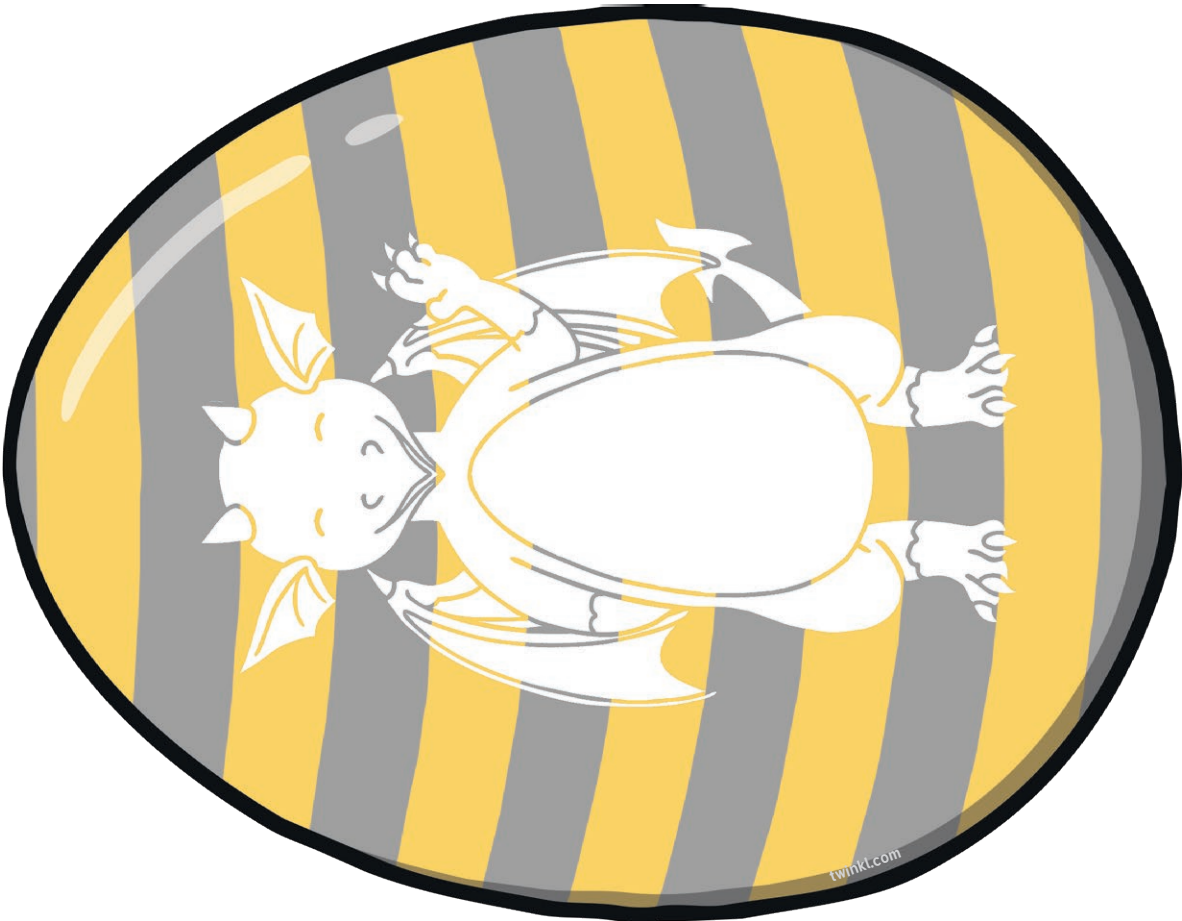

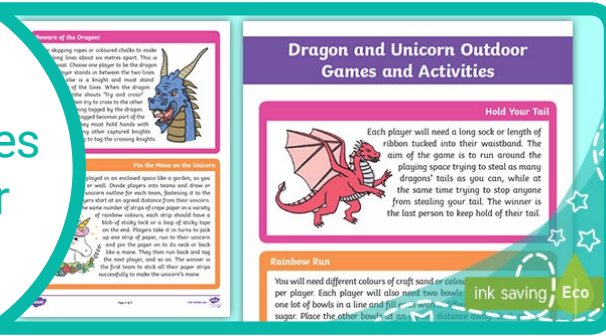

If you enjoyed this resource, why not try...

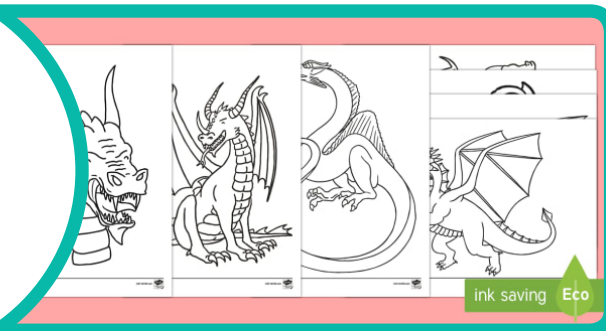

Dragon and Unicorn Games and Outdoor Activities

Simple Paper Dragon Craft

Dragon Colouring Sheets

Dragon Party Bunting

If you need us, just get in touch - contact twinklcares@twinkl.co.uk
visit twinkl.com/parents

Explore and Discover More

twinkl